“Serving Industrial and Commercial Applications”

Canbar was founded in 1872 and evolved over the decades into the production of rotationally molded products. In 2000, RTS Companies Inc. was formed as a spin-off of the plastics division of Canbar. Since then, RTS Companies has grown its small plastics division into a well-known North American manufacturer of custom and proprietary molded plastic products.

Today, RTS Companies Inc. continues with the tradition of producing high quality products for several different markets. The head office is now located in St. Clements, Ontario, and comprised of a group of engineers, research and development teams, helpful sales associates, technical managers, and office staff. RTS operates two manufacturing sites; St. Clements, Ontario and Austinburg, Ohio. These state-of-the-art rotational molding facilities are equipped with computer directed molding machines, operated by trained personnel and applied to a wide range of plastic products.
